Local Architectural Fraternity Take In Students High In Profession

OFFICERS NAMED

Phelps H. Bultman, of Sumter was elected president of the Minarets, honorary architectural fraternity, at a meeting April 14.

J. Alison Lee of Greenwood was elected vice president, John W. Inabinet of Bowman as secretary, and Kenneth B. Koehler of Louisville, Ky., as treasurer. Floyd P. Kay, Jr., was re-elected editor of the Minaret Bulletin, the Society's quarterly publication.

Those receiving membership, which is based on high academic standing and general aptitude along architectural lines, are W. O. Ameen, Winnsboro; D. G. Anderson, Miami, Fla.; K. Berger, Baltimore, Md.; J. E. Cothran, Inman; R. C. Dillfield, Clemson; W. C. Dows, Spartanburg; J. R. Gray, Anderson; J. W. Hamer, Tatum; W. E. Helms, Molino, Fla.; and R. A. Kilgore, Laurens.

Also V. E. Lewis, Spartanburg; H. C. McDonald, Brevard, N. C.; B. B. Neeley, Columbia; A. A. Rice, Anderson; M. D. Rice, Kathwood; T. C. Rickenbaker, St. Matthews; H. J. Riddle, Charleston; G. S. Sanders, Ehrhardt; H. H. Tarleton, Union; and C. K. Warner, Louisville, Ky.

The new "Scabs" will begin their informal initiation shortly and will be formally taken into the Society at a later date.

The Minarets have recently sponsored a show and presented an exhibit of water colors, models, and architectural designs at the Y. M. C. A.

Freshmen Place Men In Race For Next Year's Officers

Sophomore class nominations for the coming year were made this past Monday night in the college chapel before a crowd of less than a hundred. Three men were nominated for each office. The election will be held next Monday, April 26 from 8:00 to 7:30 in front of the post office.

The three men nominated for the office of president are Ray Mathews, agricultural freshman of McKeesport, Penn.; P. F. MacDonald, electrical engineering freshman of Charleston; and J. H. Stovall, civil engineering freshman of Charleston.

James C. Clanton, pre-medical freshman of Charlotte, N. C.; J. Allen Tison, textile engineering freshman of Bennettsville; and John Childress, textile engineering freshman of Ft. Knox, Ky. were nominated for the post of vice-president.

For the secretary-treasurer position, W. H. D. Gaillard, electrical engineering freshman of Florence; E. L. DuCom, mechanical engineering freshman of Sumter; and C. W. Anderson, textile manufacturing freshman of Summerville will seek to be top man.

The three men running for the historian post are J. H. James, education freshman of Cleveland, P. G. Reynolds, architectural engineering freshman of Sumter; and A. A. Muckenfuss, electrical engineering freshman of Florence.

Spring Inspection To Be May 10-11

The annual ROTC inspection of the cadet corps is scheduled for May 10 and 11. ROTC cadets will be excused from classes to the extent necessary to participate in the inspection, though every effort will be made to avoid the necessity for class absences on May 10.

ELEVEN NEW MEMBERS OF BLUE KEY

Blue Key, national honorary service and leadership fraternity, recently tapped eleven new members into the organization. They are now beginning an informal initiation. Men entering the local chapter are Phelps Bultman, "Bumps" Freeman, Leo Kirven, Dan May, Sam McGregor, David Peebles, Phil Prince, E. M. Rallings, L. B. Smith, Charlie Still and Bob Thomas.

Gillespie Will Head Top Class

Prince, Martin, And Thomas Will Fill Other Posts For Coming Session

VOTE IS HEAVY

Elections for senior class officers for the coming year were run off Monday with over fifty per cent of the class turning out for the voting. Frank Gillespie, electrical engineering junior of Beckley, West Virginia, was elected president, polling over three times as many votes as the other two men in the race put together. Gillespie received 343 of the 448 votes cast. E. M. Rallings, vocational agricultural education junior of Pageland, received 81 ballots and Gil Allen, agronomy junior of Franklin, Tennessee, polled 22.

Phil Prince, arts and sciences junior of Erwin, Tennessee, carried away laurels in the vice-presidency race by getting 265 votes while I. L. "Rusty" Donkle, textile manufacturing junior of Greenville received 94. Clyde Herron, chemical engineering junior of Anderson, gathered in 87.

The race for secretary-treasurer was one of the closer runoffs. Bob Martin, pre-med junior of Fort Mill, secured 202 votes to cop top honors. Runner up posts went to Leonard Macgruder, electrical engineering junior of Central Hershey, Cuba, with 131 ballots, and J. F. Covington, electrical engineering junior of Clio who claimed 115 of the total.

Bob Thomas, architecture junior of Clemson, and M. C. Rash, pre-med junior of Lockhart, carried on the closest race of the day for the post of historian. Thomas came out on top with 215 votes to 176 for Rash. Jerome Wilson, textile chemistry junior of Greenville, received 51 votes for this post.

Clark To Speak At Annual Phi Psi Fele

Mr. David Clark, publisher of many leading textile magazines, will be the principal speaker when the Iota chapter of Phi Psi national honorary textile fraternity, holds its annual banquet in Greenville on April 30.

Those expected to attend the banquet are active members of Phi Psi, their wives and dates; alumni members of this locality; and faculty of the textile school who are members of Phi Psi.

The banquet is to be held in the Rose Room of Hotel Greenville, and Mr. Clark has chosen for the subject of his talk "The Background of Textile Industry of the South."

Officers of Phi Psi are Louis P. Batson, Jr., textile engineering senior from Greenville, president; J. H. Walker, textile engineering senior of Griffin, Ga., vice president; and H. M. Miller, textile manufacturing junior from Chester, secretary and treasurer.

Phi Eta Sigma Takes In Eleven 'Morons'

Eleven students currently enrolled at Clemson College have been selected for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor scholastic society. Eligibility is based on grade point ratio of 7.5 and above.

The new members are H. G. Allison, Gaffney; H. E. Bland, Gaffney; D. C. DuBoise, Newark, N. J.; J. D. Ferguson, Asheville, N. C.; J. D. Henry, Simpsonville; P. E. Rile, Middleboro, Ky.; W. H. Sibley, Greenville; J. F. Cathcart, Bishopville; B. D. Hicks, Fort Mill; J. A. Shockley, Falls Church, Va.; and C. C. Taylor, Greenville.

These men have just completed a period of informal initiation.

NEW SENIOR OFFICERS

Senior class officers were recently nominated and elections were run off last Monday with over fifty per cent of the rising senior class voting. The men elected were Frank Gillespie, president; Phil Prince, vice-president; Bob Martin, secretary-treasurer, and Bob Thomas, historian.

Southern Symphony Here Sunday At 6:30

Sixty-five professional musicians will appear with the Southern Symphony Orchestra in the Clemson Amphitheater Sunday, April 25th at 6:30 P. M., under the direction of Carl Bamberger. This orchestra, composed of musicians from some of the leading orchestras in our country, appears in South Carolina each year at the time when the seasons of the orchard to which they belong has closed.

Brought to this state by the sponsorship of the Columbia Music Festival, the orchestra climaxes the season with the Spring Festival during the last week-end in April.

The program will include, for the first time in its history of appearances here two songs by the Clemson Glee Club. Professor Hugh H. McGarity, Director of Music, will direct the Glee Club and conduct the orchestra in presenting "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite", G. F. Handel, and "When To Thee Our Saviour Went", R. Wagner.

The remaining program is as follows:

Overture to the Opera "The Bartered Bride", Bedrich Smetana, 1824-1884.

Dream Pantomime from "Hansel and Gretel", Felix Mendelssohn, 1809-1847.

(See Page 3—Col. 4)

Students Must Sign Up Now If Planning To Return In '48-'49

In view of the fact that the number of students who desire to attend Clemson exceeds the capacity of the institution, it is necessary that all students make reservations in advance if they wish to be accommodated, it was announced today by the registrar.

The reservation card should be filled out and returned to the Registrar's office by April 26 if the student expects to continue enrollment in June or return in September. No reservation can be promised unless the card is returned promptly by the date indicated above.

The card is divided into two sections. One is a reservation card for the summer session and the other a request for a reservation for the 1948-1949 session that begins in September. Students who expect to attend both the summer session and enter in September are required to fill out both sections.

However, if plans have not been made to attend the summer session, fill out only the "Request for Reservation for 1948-1949 session" and return the card intact to the Registrar's office by April 26.

These cards may be picked up in the Registrar's office in the basement of the Main Building. Students are urged to fill the cards out correctly, giving catalog number, title, and credit hours of each course desired. Persons attending the summer session will be allowed to take from six to 13 credits hours, depending on grade point ratios.

The summer session will begin on June 18 and extend to August 19. The 1948-1949 session begins on September 9.

Students are reminded that no reservation deposit is required

Luncheon Band Signed for Jr-Sr

Jimmie Luncheon's Orchestra, with Eddie Wilcox and Joe Thomas, has been signed for the Junior-Senior Ball, according to a report received by the Tiger shortly before press time.

This orchestra, billed as "The Pioneers of the Swing Era", is one of the best known Negro bands in the country.

The Friday night dance will be formal or semi-formal, which means that men attending may wear the formal tux or uniform, or come semi-formal in a dark or a white suit. Cost of the Friday night ticket will be $2.50. The Saturday night event will be informal, and will cost $2.75.

Baptist Church Planning Large Expansion Program On Building

BAPTIST EXPANSION PROGRAM BEGINS
SPANGENBERG

EARLE

HELTON COLE HARDEE PATRICK
An expansion program has been begun on the Clemson Baptist Church that will cost approximately $70,000 when completed. The ground breaking ceremonies were held recently. Baptist leaders on the campus were present when Dr. S. B. Earle, chairman of the Board of Deacons, broke the first turf. They are, reading from left to right, Mr. K. R. Helton, chairman of the finance committee, Rev. Harold Cole, pastor of the church, Jim Spangenberg, minister of students, Gilbert Hardee, president of the Clemson Baptist students union, Dr. Poole, and Mr. C. S. Patrick, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Clemson To Be Host To South Carolina Academy Of Science Weekend Of April 24

Clemson College will be host for the South Carolina Academy of Science and the South Carolina State Junior Academy of Science on Saturday, April 24.

The state academy is also holding a joint union with the South Carolina Section and the Western Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Gilbert H. Collings of Clemson is President of the Academy.

The Council of the Academy will meet Friday night at 7:30 in the Trustee House. Most of the meetings will be held in classrooms of the second floor and the auditorium on the third floor of the Agriculture Building.

The general session of the Academy will meet in Room 335, Agriculture Building, at 10 a. m. Saturday. Lunch will be served for members of the Academy at 1:00 p. m. in the college Dining Hall for 65 cents a plate.

In the afternoon Biology Section A will meet in Room 221 and Biology Section B in Room 222 at 2:00 p. m. The section of mathematics, physics, and geology with the South Carolina Section and the Western Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society will meet in Room 335 also at 2:00 p. m.

Dr. R. F. Poole will give an Address of Welcome at 10:00 a. m. Saturday. Among other addresses and lectures, Mr. E. J. Lease of Clemson College will speak on "Improving the Food Value of Corn Meal and Grits." Mr. A. C. Robinson will make an address on the new ceramics laboratory at Clemson College. Mr. H. A. Woodie, Agronomy Extension Work, Clemson College, will speak about "Tall Fescue Grass in South Carolina."

Mr. A. C. Clement, College of Charleston, will be Chairman of Section A of Biology. Miss Margaret Hess, Winthrop College, will be Chairman of the Section B of Biology. Mr. Baynard Whaley, Sonoco Products Company, will be Chairman of the South Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society.

Ground Is Broken For New Annex

$70,000 Enlargement Will Begin Next Week; Earle Breaks First Ground

ADDITION ON NORTH END

The Clemson College Baptist Church signed a contract with Cromer-Sullivan of Anderson on Thursday, April 15, for the first unit on a $70,000 expansion program. The breaking of the ground for the new annex to the Education building is shown above. Construction begins this week. This annex will be connected with the present building on the north end, extending to the property line on that side.

The addition of the first unit will allow the Sunday School of the church to almost double its enrollment. It will also make possible the complete reorganization and functioning of the religious education program of the church on a fully graded basis. This first unit will cost approximately $40,000, completely equipped. Plans are for this unit to be completed for occupancy on Sunday, September 5, 1948.

On the ground floor of the completed main church building will be the facilities for the Primary, Beginner, and Nursery departments of instruction. The main floor will provide an assembly room for adults (the Club Room), four large class rooms for young people, and offices for the church staff. The church offices and two of the class rooms are to be arranged in such a way that they can be heated apart from the rest of the building. The top floor will include the class rooms and assembly for the intermediate and junior departments of instruction, as well as several class rooms for adults. The young people will have the use of the main auditorium of the church for assembly and class rooms. The main auditorium is to be decorated at a later date.

The second unit in construction will be a modern recreation and dining hall providing space for a full social program, including banquets, receptions, parties, and athletic activities for the students and young people and adults of the community. The main room will be 40x60 feet, in addition to which there will be a lobby, lavatories, an extension kitchen, and storage room. This building will be constructed behind the Baptist parsonage, across Church Street from the main church plant. While no date has been set for the commencement of this unit, if the financing can be arranged, this unit will be started within a few months. It is to cost approximately $30,000 equipped.

Groups sponsoring and advertising pictures at the STUDENT PICTURES ON THE CAMPUS soon include The Band, Junior Y Council, MDM Club, Methodist Circle No. 2, Veterans' Organization, Lutheran Students. Other student or campus groups interested in sponsoring and advertising a picture please leave your request in writing at the 'Y' office or write the 'Y' at Box 312, Clemson.

The Minarets had a demonstration of paintings, drawings, and other work in the club rooms of the Y Wednesday, April 21. They also supplied ushers for the picture and invited a number of guests and friends in the club rooms for Minaret Day at the Y.

Many campus clubs can render a service to themselves and to other campus activities by inviting boys and young people from your home community to visit Clemson. While here, you may entertain them or assist in entertaining them and do something for yourself and for the school. We will be glad to have them as guests for a swim in the 'Y' pool and if possible we will be glad to have them as guests for some picture or to screen some news or short reels for them.

It was a pleasure to have the Winthrop Choir as guests on the campus today. We are looking forward with pleasure to having Mrs. Troy Carter and the all-girl choir of Wabasha, S. C., at Vesper Program at the Y Sunday, April 25 in the afternoon at 2:20.

We also wish to extend our thanks to the Concert Committee for having the Southern Symphony in the outdoor theater Sunday at 6:30 p. m.

CLEMSON GRADUATE AUTHOR OF BOOK FOR JOB HUNTERS

Another alumnus takes his place among authors in the non-fiction field with the book, "How to Job Hunt Successfully," by Harold E. Keenan, published this week by Altman Printing Company.

"This book is for you... man or woman, young or old, excellent or average education and experience... who wants to get ahead faster in your work, advance to higher duties, and make more money," Mr. Keenan states in the preface.

HE GOES ON to explain that many capable people who deserve far better jobs than they hold are handicapped because they don't know how to put over a good selling job when it comes to selling themselves.

"Every employer is beset by scores of job seekers who do not think of what they have to offer—that is, how their talents can be of value to the employer," Mr. Keenan asserts. "Rather they are interested in what they want—a job!" he continues. "Since the business man has to protect himself from such ignorant or careless—or just selfish—applicants, he uses some stock phrase as 'I'll keep your name on file.' His resistance is hard to penetrate, but it can be done by carefully preparing every step of your employment campaign."

AND THIS IS where Mr. Keenan's book moves definitely into the picture. It explains the various steps of an employment campaign, and goes into detail on such things as assembly of preliminary information, preparation of brochure application, distribution to prospective employers, planning the interview, and use of follow-up letters, telephone calls, and conferences to close the transaction favorably.

The book contains a complete chart of an employment campaign, specimen brochure applications, specimen follow-up letters, and a gold mine of other information for persons seeking advancement through the securing of a new job.

MR. KEENAN is president of Employee Services, Inc., of Atlanta, and also is engaged in promotional work allied with architecture for the General Bronze Corporation, Garden City, N. Y. He is on the road a considerable portion of his time, but makes his home at 2315 North Main Street,

HAROLD E. KEENAN

Anderson, S. C. His wife is a native Andersonian, being the former Miss Sylvene Elrod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Elrod.

Mr. Keenan was born in Aiken, S. C., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Keenan. His father was a member of the legislature from Aiken County for many years, and as a youngster Mr. Keenan was a Page in the legislature for four sessions and Bill Clerk for two sessions by appointment of the late Congressman Thomas S. McMillan, who was at that time Speaker of the House of Representatives.

DURING WORLD WAR I, Mr. Keenan served with the Sixth Cavalry. He was discharged for permanent disability, and entered Clemson in 1923 as a G. I. student. He graduated in architecture. Since then, he has held positions with headquarters in New Orleans, Birmingham, Memphis, Richmond, Charlotte and Atlanta.

SENIORS in particular will find this book very helpful in preparing their employment campaign in order to enter the business field in the RIGHT job and with the MAXIMUM compensation. Mr. Keenan has therefore sent them a direct mail piece descriptive of "How to Job Hunt Successfully". L. C. Martin Drug Company, now handling its sale on the campus, will redeem the direct mail coupon for any one wishing to purchase a copy locally.

Converse College To Present Operetta "M'lle Modiste" Here On May 4

Under the sponsorship of the Clemson College Woman's Club, Converse College will present Victor Herbert's operetta, "M'LE MODISTE," May 4th at 8 p. m. in the Clemson College Auditorium, according to Mrs. R. F. Poole, president.

Directed by David W. Reid, head of the Converse Music School's Opera Workshop and director of the Spartanburg Little Theater, "M'LE MODISTE" has a cast drawn from the Little Theater and the Converse Dramatic Club. It carries a thirty-piece orchestra conducted by Alfred W. Bleckschmidt of the Converse Music School, and a chorus of forty voices from the Converse College and Wofford College Glee Clubs, under the direction of Woodrow Pickering, professor of Voice and director of the Converse Glee Club.

Sets are designed by James Buchanan, commercial artist and scenic designer for the Spartanburg Music Festival and the Little Theater. Dancing is under the direction of Janet Gibson of the department of Physical Education at Converse.

An opera in two acts, with books and lyrics by Henry Blossom, "M'LE MODISTE" is a

Monroe Elected To Regional Post In Ag Education

By LEN REYNOLDS

J. B. Monroe, acting head of the Department of Vocational Agricultural Education at Clemson, was elected chairman of the teacher trainers division of the southern states at the twenty-ninth Annual Southern Regional Conference for Agricultural Education.

Mr. B. H. Strubling of the Vocational Agricultural Education Department at Clemson, also attended the conference with Mr. Monroe which was held at the Plaza Hotel in San Antonio, Texas from April 5 to the 10.

Mr. Monroe graduated from Clemson College with the class of '15 and since that time has been in the education field. Eight years of his teaching experience were spent training agricultural teachers at Sam Houston State College at Huntsville, Texas.

Since that time the noted educator has taught in Kansas and Illinois, and served as assistant state supervisor for agricultural education in South Carolina in the State Department of Education in Columbia.

Supervisors and teacher trainers from twelve southern states and Puerto Rico were present at the meeting. Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia were represented.

Mr. D. M. Clements, assistant chief of Agricultural Education in the United States Office of Education, came from Washington, D. C., to meet with the group. Dr. W. T. Spanton, chief of the Vocational Education Division, made a lecture on Future Farmer work. Also present was R. E. Naughton of the United States Office of Education.

One of Mr. Monroe's duties as chairman of the group will be to prepare programs and make preparations for next year's conference.

Dr. Vaughan was in both Panama and Costa Rica during December, and visited Mexico last summer.

Pittman Is President Of Chem Engineers

E. Henry Pittman was elected President of the Clemson Society of Chemical Engineers at the regular meeting held Tuesday night. Other officers elected for the coming year were D. O. Blanchett, vice president; E. P. Bisher, secretary; and H. G. Daniels, treasurer. Dr. C. E. Stoops and Mr. C. E. Littlejohn are the Faculty Advisors for the club.

Gates Head Of Group To Study Plans

Committee Has Begun Investigation Into Possibilities Of Housing Project

HILL IS SECRETARY

Construction of low-priced homes for Clemson College faculty, administrative personnel, and their families is to be the object of a new committee recently appointed by Dr. R. F. Poole, president.

The committee has already begun investigation into sizes and types of houses available, estimated expense, and details of financing, and has contacted a construction finance agency. It has also issued questionnaires to people eligible to receive benefits of the project, in order to gain pertinent statistics.

Current plans call for an open meeting in the near future in order that everyone who filled out one of the questionnaires can present suggestions for solving existing campus housing problems.

Professor John Gates of the Architecture Department was appointed committee head, and Mr. Henry Hill, chief of the Clemson housing administration, was made secretary.

Other members of the committee include Mr. Nib Goebels, asst. forester; Mr. J. L. Murph, asst. supt. of grounds; Professor George B. Nutt, head of the Architectural Engineering Department; Dr. Marvin A. Owings of the English Department; Professor Gilmer Petroff of the Architecture Department; and Professor Gilbert C. Robinson of the Ceramics Engineering Department.

Also Dr. James H. Sams, vice-dean of the School of Engineering; Dr. Frank B. Schirmer of the School of Chemistry; Professor Frederick W. Thode of the Horticulture Department; Mr. David J. Watson, chief of the C and R division; and Mr. Thomas W. Thornhill of Charleston, a trustee of the college.

Professor Gates has stated that the cooperation of all concerned in filling out the questionnaires both quickly and accurately will expedite action of the committee toward a solution.

Chemical Engineering Lab Gets Apparatus For Fractional Distillation

By "Doc" Roberts

The classic remark made by a well-meaning electrician on entering the practically new chemical engineer lab was, more or less, the most appropriate yet. Seeing for the first time the fractionating column and still, this Piedmont public servant remarked: "Wal, doggone—I didn't know a feller had to go to college to learn to make that stuff!"

According to the informed personnel who sweat and brew in the lab, however, the still is used solely for separating two liquids of different boiling points. (What is the boiling point of that stuff, anyway?)

This new lab represents the combined effort of the Chemical Engineer Department and is a credit to this or any other department. Under the direction of the department head, Dr. Charles E. Stoops, and Professor C. E. Littlejohn, the comparatively small but industrious group of men following this course have assembled and erected some of the most modern chemical apparatus to be found in this section of the country. Most of this equipment, valued at approximately $15,000, came to the college from the War Surplus Administration.

The liquid air apparatus, which is not assembled as yet, is reportedly the only one of its kind in South Carolina. A three-stage Norwalk compressor, part of the liquid air paraphernalia, is capable of producing 5,000 pounds of pressure per square inch.

The building in which all this specialized equipment is housed still has a recently-occupied look since the construction of it began

ELECTION TURNOUT IS ABOVE PAR

This past Monday, elections were held to decide who will lead the senior class for the coming year. The turnout was exceptionally good. Over fifty per cent of the rising senior class cast their ballot. This is above the usual vote.

We think that the vote would have been even higher if the original campaign had been carried out. However, at the recent nominations, the New Deal party commanded the nominations by having the larger majority on hand.

The Senior Council admitted that they were in fault as to the way the nominations were carried out and made the statement that as far as they knew, write-in ballots could be made. However, only three were in the total of 418 who voted.

Nominations have now been made for the junior and sophomore class officers. The election of these men will be held in the near future. Students in these two classes should get out and stir up interest in their election even though there are no specific parties involved. If you do not vote, you have only yourself to blame if your favorite is not elected.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS BUT BE CAREFUL

An old saying goes that man's best friend is his dog.

Here on the Clemson campus, there are many canine friends running around and they are constantly seen in the mess hall, in the barracks, and some in rooms. Students are always stopping to pet one of them.

This is a good gesture, but around this time of year, people must be on the constant watch out while around dogs.

Rabies is very prevalent among all types of animals. Students should be cautious as to how they play with the dogs on the campus for there is always the chance that one of the animals will contract this disease. In one school in Greenville, there are 71 students currently taking shots against rabies.

It might be a wise idea for all dogs on the campus that are not wearing inoculation tags to be picked up and done away with. Most of the campus dogs belong to somebody close by, and the owners should see that their dogs are either inoculated or locked up.

HEAT NO EXCUSE FOR SLOPPINESS . . .

One year ago the cadet corps was in an uproar. "The emergency is over," its members complained, "so why should we go on wearing army uniforms? They look bad and they don't fit. In short, they ain't for us." Pre-war grays were proposed in most circles as the ideal solution to a bad situation.

A few minor prophets put forward a theory that, after all, the grays would usher in problems of their own. First, there was expense: the army uniform was being furnished for a flat rental of five dollars, plus the cost of any lost articles. Replacements or worn items were being furnished free of charge. And the quartermaster provided several articles whose prices would prohibit their being bought by the students themselves. Included among these were summer uniforms.

True, the sunlans were not pretty; but they were comfortable, and they did not cause so much perspiration during the warmer months of the year as to melt their creases.

These prophets were not heeded, at least in their own country. Today the corps is garbed in gray. Complaints are just about as much rampant as they were last year. The appearance of the corps has changed, yes. Nowadays only an expert could tell some cadets from a penitentiary road worker, and his decision would not be based upon appearance of clothing.

Hot weather and wool trousers do not make a good combination, and cotton uniforms are too expensive for addition to most cadets' wardrobes.

The appearance of the grays can be improved by regular pressing and cleaning. The cadet corps has made its bed; now it must not only lie in it, but try to get a little sleep as well.

Dr. Poole Says . . .

The return of the traditional gray uniform to the Clemson campus has received favorable comment from many sources. There is a general feeling of hope that the day is near when every Clemson student will be in uniform. In a remarkable manner the excellent physique of the student in a neat uniform and the beautiful campus complement each other.

Since the return of the uniform many suggestions, most of them meritorious, have been proposed as improvements. The Administration is in accord with the proposals made to date but it has a responsibility of determining what should be made compulsory because of the cost involved. It is imperative that we give due consideration to the financial ability of the parents to meet the cost of educating their sons. Some young men are now borrowing money to complete their education and it seems inevitable that this number may increase in the near future.

In 1942 the cost of the uniform, including six shirts and a rain coat, was $88.10. In 1947 the cost, exclusive of shirts, was $92.30 and the cost in 1948 will probably be $10.40 higher. Up to this date a favorable raincoat contract has not been secured but shirts at $2.00 each may be obtained. I am of the opinion that the raincoat is a necessity because students must meet classes regardless of the heavy rains that sometimes occur throughout the day.

Gloves, white duck trousers, light-weight warm weather pants and sweaters have been proposed as additional required uniform items. These items would increase the initial cost and would be borne mostly by the freshman when he enters school.

At the present time it is anticipated that a freshman will be required to pay a total of $234.45 when he enters college. This includes first quarter's expenses of $131.25 and the cost of uniform at $102.70. The three subsequent payments will be $131.75 each, making a total of $629.70 for the year. This seems like a large sum of money, but it includes board, laundry, room, tuition, and hospital and other fees. Many institutions charge this amount for tuition and fees.

An upperclassman will pay $145.75 when he enters in 1948. To add the additional items would not be a serious burden on his parents, because the major part of his uniform is good for four years.

It is anticipated that the student who meets the ROTC requirements will receive approximately $112.77 as a uniform allowance from the War Department during his four years' stay at Clemson and this will nearly compensate for the cost of the uniform. It would therefore seem that we should study the possibility of furnishing the necessary items and such other items as would add to the attractiveness and utility of the present uniform. It is my intention to make these studies, keeping in mind that the financial status of both the parent and the student must be respected.

R. F. Poole, President

Not That It Matters

LEONARD M. MAGRUDER

Well, I've had my little fling at politics, and have arrived at one conclusion: as a politician I'd make a better football player. Or is it, as football player I'd make a better politician? From the ground to where I was beaten I have voice but to say, "Congratulations, you big hunk of he-men; now, who's going to take down all our posters, me?"

What's this? A rumbling of the ground and the indistinct words, "Don't give up, Magruder; don't give up." I'm inspired! So without further ado I hereby announce my intentions to run for secretary-treasurer of the rising post-grads. I need the pay.

My platform will be:

- 1) Women
- 2) Wine
- 3) and Song

Qualifications? Look at my record: Private, private, private. I am NOT a wheel! Decorations? Purple Heart for fainting on Bowman Field, Order of the Blueslips, and Merit of Shoeshine. My first act upon being elected will be to suggest that the Senior Council do a striptease or offer free dishes in the interest of better meeting attendance.

Better yet, have half the Council in one car collide with the other half in another car in front of any place imaginable. If that doesn't bring people a'running from Clemson and seven neighboring counties, I'll resign. Deals? All kinds of deals! One deal is with the Blue Key, promising them, if I'm elected, to back them in their project of eleven foot poles for people they wouldn't touch with ten foot poles. For the Commandant's support I am promising mine to his plan of making disrespect a capital crime, punishable by death. The "Biddies" promise me their full support to another plan of mine to limit the power of the Senior Council. On the other hand the Tiger Brotherhood is all for my other plan to strengthen it. A little deal here, a little deal there and you're all set. Latest "poop" from the provinces is that the Senior Council, after three whole minutes of deliberation has decided on the following method of nominations: Nominees whose name begins with either K or X will not be tolerated. Of fifty nominations for each position one will remain after voting to be indicated by raising left leg. The project that I have chosen as that of the class of '52 is being met with much approval on the campus. Everyone agrees that the present arrangements are becoming overcrowded and, much to my surprise, even the Administration is promising prompt support of the plan. It is agreed that the site that has been chosen could be put to no better use.

Plans call for twice the present floor space and no more than three times the equipment of the unit now in use. Instructors from India, whence the fine art originated, are at the time enroute to this land with a well rounded program of instruction all mapped out. Their plans are to teach the course, not only from a practical point of view, but with emphasis on it's spiritual phase as well. Our heartiest thanks to everyone concerned for their enthusiastic cooperation. I'm sure that with such a backing it won't be long before we can point with pride to one of the best darn pool-halls in the South.

Talk of the Town

By CHARLIE STILL

Fashion Parade—Clemson Style

As the year goes on the grass has a new coat of green, the trees have new leaves, American women have new spring outfits, and the Army has donned fresh khaki—but the traditional woolen gray is yet with us, and the Clemson Cadet Corps suddenly finds itself out of style. That last statement may sound quite misleading, since a uniform is widely known and constantly worn but the Clemson gray is never exactly "out of style". Yet the fact remains that the cadets are now dressed for colder weather than Mother Nature allows, with the result that the open season leaves Joe Cadet literally "sweating it out".

Place the Blame On—

Who is responsible for this situation? What can be done about it? Actually, no one person nor group of persons can be held responsible for the fact that Clemson cadets have no summer uniforms, unless it is the cadets themselves. Since all fees and expenses of the College are set as low as possible to the students, any summer outfits have been excluded because of the additional cost involved. Even though the money value of extra trousers would probably not run over twenty dollars at most, uniform articles are "fixed" and may not be added to without proper authorization.

How Things May Be Changed

The Administration of the College is not authorized to make changes in any fees without the approval of both the President and the Board of Trustees. Under the present set-up, it would be absolutely impossible to obtain any sort of lightweight uniform before the end of the 1947-48 session.

In addition to the necessary approval of the governing body of the College, the Military Department would have to be consulted as to the type, grade, and color of trousers to be used. The Business Manager's Office would have to contact clothing agencies in order to compile a list of the available types and their prices. It would obviously require a great deal of investigation and detailed planning, in addition to working out shipment and issue schedules.

The Decision of the Cadets is Final

In spite of all the obnoxious details involved in such a plan, the cadets would make substantial gains in comfort in the long run. That hot, sticky feeling Joe Cadet gets while standing at parade rest on Bowman Field is a constant reminder that somewhere along the line lightweight trousers should have been written in on the uniform list.

Preliminary investigations of the possibilities in white and gray trousers are to get under way soon; if the Cadet Corps so desires, Clemson will have its first "summer uniform" counterpart to the traditional gray. In order to get cooler outfits off paper and on cadets, the cadets themselves must make their wishes known to the Administration. The authorities of the College will be ready and able to carry out the necessary details to get summer uniforms—if a good majority of the Cadet Corps demonstrates its willingness to have extra trousers at additional cost. The problem is that of Joe Cadet; his decision is final.

Hospitality—Clemson Style

Clemson hospitality was at its best during the South Carolina Baptist Student Union Spring Retreat which was held here last weekend. The visiting students and dignitaries were quite impressed both by the beauty of the campus and the hospitable conduct of the student body. In general, a spirit of good will and friendly relationship prevailed throughout the entire three days that Clemson played host to Baptists from sixteen South Carolina schools.

Perhaps the most unusual statement of the Retreat was made by an outstanding Furman graduate who openly admitted that as far as he was concerned, his association with our campus and its men had won Clemson a place of equal esteem with his own Alma Mater. Such a pronouncement speaks well for the "Country Gentlemen", as well as the school they represent.

Campus Chatter . . .

By THOMAS A. COLLINGS

The following notice is of interest to all local citizens of Pickens County. "This is to advise that the Pickens County Board of Registration will be at L. C. Martin's Drug Store on April 29 from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for the purpose of issuing county registration certificates to all qualified voters living in the Town of Clemson and surrounding community. All county registration certificates have been voided and you must have a new registration certificate to be qualified to vote in any general election." Further information will be found in other parts of The Tiger.

Many people of Clemson who missed the play, "The Curtain Rises", have been turning green with envy because of the reports of the few who attended. The play was sponsored by the Glee Club on April 15, and according to one patron of all Clemson productions it was the best that has been given in many a day.

Best wishes to Miss Frances Ferrier whose engagement was announced on Sunday. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Ferrier and has been working with the Birds Eye Snider Division of General Foods in New York City. The groom to be is Wilbur Stoll, a graduate of Princeton University who is now associated with the Merck

Chemical Company of Rahway, N. J.

Mrs. Walter Cox, president of the Legion Auxiliary, called a meeting of the organization on Tuesday afternoon to elect officers. However, like the Chatterer, the members seem to have been attacked by bad cases of spring fever as the attendance was too small to have the election.

Circle No. 1 of the Methodist Church is having a Silver Tea Thursday afternoon.

Sympathy to Mrs. D. H. Henry who was taken seriously ill last Thursday.

Sympathy also to Mrs. T. S. Moorman, of the Newman Apartments. Mrs. Moorman fell from a chair last Saturday and broke her arm.

Those people who missed "The Curtain Rises" have a chance to see another production which should be very good. This is Victor Herbert's light opera, "The Modiste", which will be sponsored by the Women's Club. This opera will be directed by Mr. David W. Reid of Converse College. May 4th, at 8 o'clock in the College auditorium. There will be a 30-piece orchestra and a cast of about 67. Wolves should come and join the Chatterer in watching the beautiful girls in the gorgeous costumes of the Gibson Girl Style.

Many Clemson ladies were entertained by Mrs. E. L. Clarke at a five-table bridge party and luncheon on Tuesday morning. The Chatterer should have been there as he would probably have secured a lot of gossip. Mrs. Clarke also had another bridge party on Wednesday afternoon.

The Fellowship Club had a supper meeting at the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday night and then joined other campus people at the Chemistry Lecture Room to hear Dr. C. H. Shull speak on "Human Nutrition Problems." Dr. Shull was brought to the campus through the Kress Fund. He also spoke Monday night and Tuesday morning on "Plant Nutrition."

The D. A. R. held its regular meeting with Mrs. R. M. Jones on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Walter Cox was assistant hostess. Miss Rosa Clark spoke on community health service at Tamassee.

During the Baptist student convention at Clemson over the weekend Jim Spangenberg was nominated for "The Walking Man". From the way he has been working for the nomination his victory is assured. A pair of rubber soles to that gentleman.

There has recently been a movement by the cadets to have a summer uniform adopted at Clemson. It would be appreciated if all interested would discuss and help promote this movement.

Confabs Around the Prefabs

By CHARLOTTE H. HAY

June Giraud of New Orleans, La., has been visiting Emery and Margaret Bates of Unit 342. June and her fiancé, Leon Ortkiese are planning a June wedding, after which they will make their home at Clemson.

Margaret Barnes of Unit 210 has returned to Clemson after visiting her parents in Savannah, Ga.

Bob and Mildred Folk of Unit 333 spent the week-end in Aiken.

Harold and Dot Humphreys of Unit 206 entertained with a bridge party Saturday night. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Curtis,

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harley, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rabe.

Sgt. W. T. Davis of Unit 195 and Sgt. H. W. Rimmer of Unit 279 motored to Atlanta Sunday to attend the double-header baseball game.

Mary Fennell and small sons, Dickie and Joe, have returned to their home on Colonial Circle (Unit 65).

Congratulations to Bill and Jane Hunter of Unit 200 on the arrival of a daughter.

Fannie Black of Unit 174 entertained with a surprise dinner in honor of husband Jake's birthday Saturday. Out-of-town guests included Jake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Black of Honea Path.

Pete and Edith McClain of Unit 322 visited their parents in Honea Path Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Dreher of Murphy, N. C., is visiting David and Winnie Mangan of Unit 229.

Hal and Lee Leonard of Unit 51 have as their guest Hal's sister, Mrs. G. A. Walz, of New York. Mary Leonard, a student of Lander College, and Frances Leonard, a student of Columbia College, spent Sunday at Clemson with their brother and sister-in-law.

POETS' CORNER

by
J. W. Bradfield, Jr.

We'd like to see some quoting of the emoting that goes on between Clemson and Winthrop these fine Spring days. With a new special metallurgical process, we are prepared to handle the most torrid tomes; what say lovers, a few verses maybe, huh? P. O. Box 502, please.

TO KATHERINE

I could write of the yellow and red
That gleams from green tresses of Flora's hair;
I could sing with a voice that would sound the deep
And rouse the souls that yond Lethe sleep.
Oh, I could write on the whirling dawn,
Ever pursued by the night, and pursuing;
And I could speak of the days that are gone,
Of the after-years filtering down through their ruin,
If you would breath through my lips a kiss
Of your soul's strange mixture of pain and bliss.

JUST YOU AND ME

They came from out the noonday skies,
Like bats from fiery Hell;
They came to pour their venom in our eyes,
Like serpents weave their spell.

Their shadow cast its web across the sun,
Presaging doom to be;
Their shadow found the eye of one
Who voyaged on the sea.

His shout aroused to frantic life
The turgid forms aboard our craft;
His shout recalled the bitter strife,
That gave the sea our tiny raft.

The eyes of falcons seldom miss their prey,
The helpless or the weak;
The eyes which slanted down on us that day
Found joy in game so meek.

And bats with whirling, crazy glee
Do dart and rend and tear;
And bats insane to see us flee
Did dart upon us there.

Of all the heaving billows sound,
A cave could not be made;
Of all the wraths in sky around
No cloak to give us shade.

The bloody claws o'er-raked our plot
In spume of awful dread;
The blood which stained that ghastly spot
Was torn from lips soon dead.

Just you and me the wrath had left,
But one insane and one in pain;
Just you and me with tears unwept,
Bereft of eyes and ears, remain.

The years press down without a light
The legless trunk that's thine,
The years crawl by in endless night,
The screams I hear are mine.

THE TRIAL BALANCE
Or the labor we've just begun
That puts us right on the ledger sheet;
It isn't the job we intended to do,
It's the work we have really done.

Our credit is built upon things we do,
Our debit on things we shirk;
The man who totals the biggest plus
Is the man who completes his work.

Good intentions do not pay bills;
It's easy enough to plan;
To wish is the play of a stupid boy;
To do is the job of a man.

Don't grumble, don't bluster,
Don't dream and don't shirk,
Don't thing of your worries,
But think of your work.

The worries will vanish,
The work will be done,
"No man sees his shadow
Who faces the sun."

Robert Browning wrote in his poem "Saul" these words: "Tis not what man does which exalts him, but what man would do", and in "Andrea Del Sarto" these: "Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" The question for us to answer is "How far do we have to reach to overtake our goal and what would we do more that we do at present?" "What have we really done?"

Tammy Out of Time,
by Cid Sumner.

This is an amusing little story that can be handy for a killing time. Doubtless you recall Byron's "Don Juan" from sophomore English? Perhaps you were required to describe Haidee, the dark-eyed, auburn-haired rescuer of Juan. Well, Tammy is a modern Haidee of the deep South.

That is one aspect of the plot. Not content to leave well-enough alone, Mrs. Sumner gave the story a little local-color by transforming Haidee's father, a pirate, into Tammy's grandfather, a moonshiner.

Who should Tammy find floating down the river one morning but (by mere chance) Peter Brent, clinging tenaciously, although unconsciously, to a friendly piece of driftwood. Peter was no mere man, he had to be a special package. This was neatly accomplished by giving Peter a family background, and a family mansion, Brenton Hall.

What happens after their meeting is the usual "Boy meets Girl" plot. They fall in love, and after overcoming such ogres as Peter's mom and sister, love triumphs.

Something should be said about the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, but frankly, I don't feel qualified. All I know about Mitropoulos is that when he enters a certain little bistro in Washington, the band plays Dimitri's Boogie, a number especially concocted for him.

FAMILY REUNION?

Tommy Dorsey moored his yacht in Florida after a summer of cruising, and gathered his brood together for April engagements. It was like an Easter Egg hunt, and an unsuccessful one at that. Stuart Foster and Ziggy Elman will not return. Charlie Shaver's contract expired. The Town Criers and Gordon Polk are in absentia too. So there you have it or do you?

Freddy Martin has been having a hard time. Everytime he gets a pianist degenerate enough to massacre the classics, the kid runs out to form a band of his own. This has occurred so frequently that they have even coined a phrase for it. Instead of saying "he left to form his own band," they just quip "he left t. f. h. o. band." You might make a note of that in case Winchell or Dorothy Dix should use the expression.

Dean Tom,
The State B.S.U. Spring Retreat of last week can now be relegated to the realm of experiences to be remembered. The girls are all back at school, the men from our neighbor schools are gone, too. The janitors, the ground crews, and the details are busily clearing up the mess left by their multitudinous.

This was my ninth retreat—and I believe it was the best I have known. It was the second one in which I had to make preparations. I have no experience in which all the committees did so well as the committees did for this week-end.

There are such a multitude of people to thank for the fine cooperation they gave in preparing for the Retreat, Tom, that I want you to let them know for me.

The College helped tremendously by letting us use the Trustee House, the Open Air Theatre, and the chapel, and giving the official okay to house most of the guests in the barracks. Mr. Lindsey and his staff were dominant factors in the success of the picnic supper.

The boys in T2 voluntarily moved out over the week-end to

It is the purpose of this column to discuss the accomplishments and problems of this group in an effort to secure a better understanding among veterans, cadets, and the administration.

On the accomplishment side, we have marked improvement in the scholastic achievements over let most of the girls use their rooms. The other fellows opened their rooms to the men. The student committee of the church and several of the families of the community helped to house the guests from Winthrop and Coker. The Y helped out in tight spots. The Co-Weds of the church planned and served the picnic for over 300 people. Mr. Watson and his men helped in a multitude of ways. The ladies of the church helped greatly in making everyone feel at home.

The TIGER gave the Retreat decent publicity, the cafes and the cafeteria gave good service, all of Clemson Town was cooperative.

And above all the Clemson students—there are none better! In all sorts of ways, "my" Clemson men made it a good thing to have the Retreat here. The visiting leaders were unanimous in praising the Clemson men for their thoughtfulness and help. These Retreat folk will be one crowd over South Carolina unanimously praising your sons, Tom Clemson!

Without a doubt the success of the Retreat lies in the hard work done by the committees preparing. As the one on whom the burden of planning and worry fell, I am deeply grateful for all the work each of you did.

Thank you for a long time.
Thanks to you too, Tom.

pre-war records by the veterans. A new seriousness of purpose is noted in the classroom because these boys realize the value and need of a college education. Some faculty members have commented that the veteran group is the best group that they have ever taught. This speaks well for the veterans at Clemson.

Much comment is heard on the ungentlemanly conduct of the veterans in general. It would speak well of us to get back to the pre-war standards of manners at Clemson. This is one of our traditions. Little interest is shown in the mass meetings of veterans and cadets. This is most discouraging for those who have the problems of veterans and students in general at heart.

Many problems will be discussed later in this column and any ideas and opinions that anyone may wish aired should be addressed to Box 1047, Clemson. This column is of a general nature and the problems discussed are not directed at any specific group or individual.

Clemson Tigers Down Wofford Tracksters 115-16

With Scoop Reynolds

As the track season rolls into the fourth week of activity, Clemson men are well pleased with the showing that Coach A. W. Norman's outfit has made, meeting and successfully defeating three state opponents. Rolling to wins over Presbyterian, Wofford, and Furman, the Tiger tracksters appeared on the way to a state title provided they can get by Scooter Rucks and his Gamecocks this weekend in Columbia when the Bengals invade the capital to seek a win over the vaulted Gamecocks.

If Clemson can place two men in both the 220 and 440, the events that the fleet Rucks runs, the Tigers will probably hold their own in other events and emerge victorious. However the score could go just the other way as Carolina boast some able performers in several events.

With Cy Kivett still on the ailing list, Jim Arnette and Mitchell Clark will have a hard time bringing the bacon home in the javelin but these hustling trackmen will seek to carry on where the mighty Kivett left off. Nobody has approached his 181 feet that he hurled the spear in the Presbyterian meet to open the season.

Baseballers Win
After dropping the opener of the Carolina series Friday afternoon, the Tigs bounced back to pound Gamecock offerings for 7 hits which were good, when coupled with 5 Carolina miscues, to score 11 runs. This was the second Southern Conference victory of the season for the Tigers.

Fresh from their success with the Gamecock on Saturday, the roaring Tigers clawed away at the Hornet and sent Furman's Hurricane home with a soothing 7-6 licking.

The Tigs rapped out 6 hits from the deliveries of bean-pole righthander Ernie Chambers while Bill Kerr and John McDowell led the way against Tig hurler Joe Asbill with 2 safeties each to pace a 9 hit attack for the Hornets.

Culbertson and Jones Star
Ken Culbertson has showed big league possibilities with his sensational stops and powerful arm as he throws out wouldbe hitters. The Shannon, Georgia boy's fielding is the brand that people sit up and notice and talk about in private ball sessions. Consistently the fleetfooted shortstop pulls down line drives and garners in grounders like picking up Easter eggs. His rifle arm makes close plays at first look easy as he shoos the ole horsehide to Jimmy Jones, talented first sacker.

Jones' fancy fielding is of the superb nature. The Belton freshman covers his assigned territory thoroughly and seldom makes a miscue. His work with the timber causes him to be a dread on opposing pitchers. Jones sports a high batting average, one of the best on the Tiger team and should solve the problem at the initial sack for several years.

Dewey Quinn at Oconee Mills
Popular Dewey Quinn leaves Ninety-Six to become player-manager of the Oconee Mills baseball team. While at Clemson Quinn was a three letterman, standing out in football, baseball and basketball. Since graduation last June Dewey has been playing baseball and basketball with Ninety-Six.

After Quinn returned from the play-offs last summer with the championship Tiger nine, he began playing with the baseballers from Ninety-Six and sparked them to the pay-off's in the textile league. This winter Quinn's team went to the play-off's for the textile league cage title.

Best of luck, Dewey Quinn.

Men Of The Week
When we began picking the man of the week in Clemson athletics we finally narrowed the field down to two members of Coach A. W. Norman's track outfit.

George Facchin and Robert Thompson get the nod over several others mentioned.

Facchin, Brentwood, Mo., sophomore, raced to a win in the 100 yard dash, racked up a victory in the discus, and ran second in the 220 yard dash. In addition to being very fast for a big boy, the fleetfooted lad from the "Show Me" state, handles the weights with the greatest of ease as his record shows for Saturday afternoon's activity against the competition that the hapless Terriers offered. In addition to wins in the discus and the 100 yard dash, Facchin placed second to Holsouser in the shotput.

Robert "Bugs" Thompson of Washington, D. C., has proved to be a most valuable addition to the Tiger tracksters. Bugs sprinted to victories in the 220 and 440 yard events during the weekend track activities. Thompson has been a consistent winner all reason for the Bengals.

Trailing the Tiger salutes George Facchin and Robert Thompson as athletes of the week in Clemson athletics.

Mathews Holds Lead In Tiger Batting Race

Ray Mathews continues to lead Clemson's baseballers at the end of their fifth week of play. The Pennsylvania lad who plays centerfield for the Tigers commanded the lead with a mark of .310 at the end of the twelfth game last Monday.

Jimmy Jones, first baseman from Belton holds the second spot.

The top averages:

Tigers Smash Wake Forest Netters Here

Clemson's claycourters added again to their wins last Thursday by allowing the Wake Forest Deacons to win only one singles. The remainder were taken by the Tigs without too much trouble, giving them a 6-1 win over the North Carolina boys.

This was the first game of the season to be played here at Clemson and a large crowd turned out to see the contest. Both the Tigers and the Deacons have been forced to postpone some of their scheduled games due to bad weather.

Summary:

SINGLES

Walker (C) dropped to Ham-mack (W. F.) 8-6, 6-4
Cook (C) beat Watkins (W. F.) 6-4, 9-7

LEST WE FORGET

By JACK CRIBB

With the first shout of "play ball" in 1942, Clemson's baseball Tigers, took the field under the tutiorship of veteran coach Randy Hinson who had coached some championship Bengal teams in past years. The nine which he bossed that year were not the best ones ever to represent the school, but it was made up of a hustling and spirited group of boys.

Back in the fold were Belk, Coker, Good, Blalock, and Buchanan. Missing in the lineup however, were such stars as Henry Buchanan, Ace Parker and George and Francis Coakley. The tremendous base knocks from the bats of these men had broken up many a ball game and the lack of this power hurt the Clemsons. Duke was our first opponent, and when the last man had been put out, the Blue Devils were on top 5-3. The lads from Durham defeated our boys 14 to 5 the next day in a very loosely played game. Belk, Berry and Blalock hit well in these contests that showed the weakness in the Tiger's mound forces.

The next tilt saw several Newberry College pitchers bombarded as the Tigs collected seventeen hits and a 21-3 victory. In an intersectional affair, the highly touted aggregation from Michigan State rolled over the Bengals by the score of 15-5. Hal-liday took his turn on the hill and let Erskine's Seceders down with nine scattered hits as we earned our second state victory. The Hinsonmen next traveled to Athens where they succumbed to a powerful Georgia squad by a count of 13 to 8.

It became apparent that ours was a hot and cold team when they blasted Erskine 16-9, edged the Georgia Bulldogs 9-8, and defeated Daniel Field's strong squad.

P. C. eked out a 12 to 11 win as the first state loss was suffered. Newberry gained revenge by reversing the score in the previous game. After this 4-3 shellacking, we journeyed to the Capital City and defeated Carolina's Gamecocks 6-5 in a thriller.

Furman's Purple Hurricane nearly blew itself out in the late innings, but emerged the victor in a match played in Greenville. The final count read 12-11. Daniel Field then handed the Clemsonites their second straight defeat 10-4 on the soldier's diamond.

Clemson displayed a burst of power in walloping the Wofford Terriers twice by large margins and again defeated South Carolina as the season drew to a close. Furman took their second win over the Bengals in a game played before the Carolina contest.

Tiger Netmen Fall Before Emory On Local Courts, 5-2

Emory's tennis squad met and defeated Hoke Sloan's Clemson netters here Saturday afternoon by a 5-2 margin. The Clemson racket swingers came out on top of two single matches with Hank Walker and Tommy Thornhill, emerging victorious in their matches.

Clemson failed to take any of the doubles as Emory make a clean sweep.

Summary:

Wannamaker (C) lost to McKean 6-3, 6-1
Cook (C) lost to Stueki 3-6, 7-5, 9-7
Murray (C) lost to Genz 6-3, 4-6, 6-3
Walker (C) defeated Cowan 6-1, 11-9
Thornhill defeated LaSalle 6-2, 6-1
Murray and Walker (C) lost to McKean and Genz (E) 6-2, 6-4
Cook and Wannamaker (C) lost to Stueki and Cowan (E) 11-9, 6-3.

Conference Baseball Lead Held By W & L

North Carolina's Tarheels and Washington and Lee's Generals are perched atop the Southern Conference baseball loop after three weeks of the diamond season in concluded. It appeared to keen observers that it will be a race to the finish between these two clubs.

Washington and Lee remains a half game ahead of the Tarheels with a record of 6 wins in as many starts with North Carolina emerging victorious in 5 games with no losses.

Tiger Track Outfit Meets S. C. Saturday

Coach A. W. Norman's track outfit will leave Clemson for the first time this season when they meet The University of South Carolina's cindermen Saturday in a match in the Capital City.

The Bengals thus far this spring have racked up three straight wins, and will be afield Saturday looking for their hardest win of the year. It's generally conceded in Tiger-town that the Carolinians will be the toughest that the Normmen will encounter this year.

Following this meet only Davidson remains on the Tig dual meet schedule.

Clemson Racquetees Scalp N'berry Indians

Tiger netters failed to follow the script Monday last week when they scalped the Newberry Indians 7-0 with flying rackets instead of the usual hatchet. This onslaught took place on the Indians home reservation before a throng of clay court enthusiasts. This was the first of two scheduled games that the Clemson Tigs have with the Newberry Indians, the other contest is to be held at Clemson May 14.

Summary:

SINGLES

Murray (C) defeated Wright (N) 3-6, 6-1, 6-0

Spook Pulkinen Establishes '48 S. C. Track Record

Clemson cindermen rolled to an overwhelming victory Saturday afternoon over the hapless Wofford tracksters by a 115-16 margin for their third consecutive win of the season.

George Facchin and Bobby Thompson won two events each for Coach Norman's hustling track outfit.

Spook Pulkinen did the 880 yard run in 2:09.9 to rack up the best time in the state so far this year.

Joe Hardwick put on a driving finish to win the 2 mile event. Little Jack Ross did not enter the meet because of a hurt leg but the track mentor, A. W. Norman felt that the able 2 miler may be able to go against the Gamecocks in Columbia Saturday afternoon.

Bob Rayle and Gil Rushton battled it out for this decision in the mile event with the nod going to Rushton with a fine 4:42.8 time. Clemson captured all first places with two exceptions as Wofford took top honors in the javelin and the high jump.

Composite Schedule Of Sporting Events

A composite schedule of sports events which Clemson athletic teams will participate in during the rest of the month of April are listed below:

Bengals Win Two Conference Baseball Contests

Tigers Eke Out 7-6 Win Over F U Hornets

The Clemson baseballers scored their second straight Southern Conference win here Monday afternoon as they downed Furman University 7-6 behind the 9 hit hurling of freshman Joe Asbill. The rookie hurler notched his first win of the season allowing 9 safites and 6 runs during his 9 inning tour.

Lanky Ernie Chambers gave the Bengals but 6 bingles, one a round tripper by big Frank Gillespie whose long drive cleared the fence in left-center, but 5 miscues and 5 free tickets gave Clemson the ball game.

Clemson began the scoring in the first inning when Jimmy Jones lined a single to center. Luke Deanhardt singled and both came across on an error, a passed ball, and a fielders choice. Furman came back to tie up the score in the second on two hits, a wild pitch, an error and a fielder's choice.

The Tigers added another in the third on two errors and a walk. The Hurricane accumulated another in the fourth on a hit, an error, and a sacrifice.

Bengal batsmen went to town in the fourth when Jimmy Jones drove home a run after two mates got on when the Furman issued a walk and a Hurricane infielder made a miscue.

Frank Gillespie dropped one of Chambers fast balls in the hedge in left center to score two mates ahead of him.

Little rapped out a homer to bring in two tallies and score to conclude the scoring activity for the day.

ON THE RECORD

Before the baseball season got under way we made the statement that the '48 edition of the Clemson diamondmen would be a green and inexperienced outfit. We meant, of course, in comparison with last season's powerhouse, the team which lost only five games and went all the way to the Eastern Intercollegiate Playoffs at New Haven, Conn. (They lost here to Yale 7-3.) Thus far this year we find that our little forecast has held fairly true to form for the Tigers have definitely been on the receiving end for most of the campaign. A quick glance at the win-lose column shows that the losses have it by a fair majority. The Tigs have won only three out of twelve.

However, in their last two encounters we've noted a definite improvement in Coach Cox's men. In the second Carolina game here last Saturday and in the Furman match this past Monday the team as a whole looked far better in all phases than it did the initial part of the season. The fielding has surely improved and the hitting is much more timely. Also the pitchers are looking better. Joe Asbill and Nif Griffith showed a great deal more control in their most recent outings as they notched victories than they did at the start of the season. Ray Fleming also showed improvement in the first Carolina contest even though he lost his game.

Maybe it's been just the fine spring weather which has effected the change, or perhaps it's just that the boys have needed time to gain experience. At any rate, the baseball team is definitely improved over early season and it could be that it will be a winner for the rest of the campaign.

"SPOOK" NEARS FRANKLIN'S RECORD

Way back in '42, Harry Franklin, one of the most outstanding track men ever to wear Clemson colors, set a mark in the 880 yard run which has stood for the past six years. That year Harry ran the half mile course faster than any man in the Palmetto State had ever done it before. His time was 1:58.2.

Last Saturday afternoon here in Tigertown, Carl "Spook" Pulkinen, successor to Harry Franklin, did the 880 in a torrid 2:0.9 as Clemson's power-laden cindermen ripped through Wofford 115-16. Pulkinen's time was just 2.7 seconds above the record. This was the best time turned in by the Charleston runner in this event in three years of Clemson track, and it's also the best time registered in the state thus far this spring.

Now we're not going to stick our necks out and make any rash statements to the effect that "Spook" will crack Franklin's mark this year or even next, but we can say with a reasonable degree of certainty that he'll come as close to doing so as any track man in the state.

GOLFERS TO DEFEND TITLE

With a string of 33 consecutive victories tucked away tightly under their belts, Coach Bob Jones' golfers are at present preparing themselves for the State Tournament which will get under way Tuesday, May 4th in Spartanburg. Last year the powerful Tiger aggregation hauled away the honors, and their participation this year will be in the interest of defending their title.

Jones will take a squad of six linksmen to the Hub City for the three-day stand. Only four of the six will be allowed to qualify for actual tournament play however. It's expected that the usual par-busting foursome of Chapman, Delk, Koopman, and Halliday will spearhead the Clemson attack. Selfridge, a Connecticut boy, is the only golfer other golfer known to this writer who will make the trip.

Later on in the season the golfers will go to Pinehurst, N. C., to take part in the Conference Tourney.

Tomorrow afternoon they will meet P. C. at Boscobel in a return match and will seek their 34th straight. Luck to them.

McFadden Presents Trophies

Bonny Banks McFadden, one of the most outstanding athletes that the Palmetto state has ever produced, presented the Teague trophies to Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, and Ed Koffensberger, versatile athlete from Duke University at a banquet held Monday night at the Poinsett Hotel in Greenville. McFadden won one of these coveted awards in 1939 when the noted athlete was tabbed All-American in football and basketball, an honor which no other athlete has achieved to my knowledge.

Mrs. Page is one of the outstanding women golfers of this decade and won the award for the third time in the female division. She had previously won cups in '41 and '44.

Koffensberger was recognized for his All-American performances in basketball and lacrosse and his excellence in track and field events. The sharp shooting cage star of the Blue Devil five set a new Southern Conference scoring record by tallying 416 in a single season and shooting 923 markers in three years of collegiate competition.

ACTION IN THE FURMAN-CLEMSON FRACUS MONDAY

Joe Asbill dashes for the plate during the Furman game here Monday afternoon when Clemson defeated the Hornets by a slim 7-6 margin. Asbill was called out by umpire Chick Heath of Greenville who claimed the Clemson hurler stepped out of the base paths during the rundown by Barnett, Phillips and Little. Leo Fisher, Tiger 2nd sacker, observes the action before he steps up to the plate again. The Tigers scored 4 runs before the fire was extinguished. By defeating the Hurricane the Bengals took their second straight conference game in as many outings.

Frank Gumby Elected to Head Clemson College Riflemen For Next Season; Captain Smith Will Coach Squad

Each year there are chosen from the R. O. T. C. nine of the students most adept with rifle. To be among these few, a cadet must challenge an old member or else take the place of one who graduates, that is if he records a qualifying score.

Clemson College helps form a part of the 20 military schools in the 3rd Army area. This area includes all Southeastern states and each year they hold a meeting to determine which rifle team shall keep the loving cup for the following year. This year the Tigers came in 9th compared to the team of last year which had only ninth place out of 12 entries. In the shoulder to shoulder firing against the U. of Georgia the Tigs lagged behind 20 points; against the Davidson Wildcats the Bengals took the lead by 22 points; on a return engagement with the Bull Dogs the Tigs again stepped up to win by a margin of 20 points.

All the military colleges in South Carolina met at P. C. to determine the most accurate shots in the state; in this Clemson came in 3rd. These shoulder to shoulder matches include firing from such positions as the standing, sitting, kneeling, and the prone position. In each of these 10 rounds are fired thus making possible a score of 40 points.

The Clemson Tigs came in with 11 wins out of a possible 22 in the telegraphic meets. The telegraphic method of holding a meet is for the school teams to fire at their respective school and send the scores to the challenger by mail, they at the same time send their scores to the other team. This insures that the figures will not be altered in any manner since both sets of scores are in the mail at the same time. This type of match is open to any R. O. T. C. unit in the U. S. and a school may challenge any school that it chooses at the time it likes.

Captain Smith, coach for the Rifle Team, will award the Milnor Block "C" sweater for this year's participation to the following: Gumby, newly elected captain for the following year; Siethel, Kinard, Peters, Levy, Allen, Poston, and Mitchum, captain for this past year.

Furman:

A provisional chapter of the Blue Key has been formed at Furman and is waiting the arrival of a charter for a permanent organization.

The Furman band returned this week from a tour of South Carolina cities.

Intramural Softball Swings Into Third Week Of Competition

Interest in the current intramural softball program is mounting as teams swing into their third week of play. Competition is keen between the nines which are made up of veterans and cadets.

Company "B" is presently leading Group 1 with two wins against no losses. Close behind "B" which is the football company come "M" and "L" Companies. These teams boast two victories and one defeat each. Next on the list are "E" and "I" Companies who have broken even in two games. "A" and "H" squads bring up the rear with no wins compared to two setbacks.

Group II has for its leader Company "C". These boys have won both of their games, but "G" and Band Companies are right on the neck of the leaders. These aggregations have taken victories in their only tilts. "K" Company has one win and one defeat and "F" Company was the loser in their only match. Company "D" is at the tail end, having lost three times without gaining a win.

T-2 is perched on top of the standings in the Veterans League with two victories and no defeats. The Clemsonians, 8th Barracks, the Trimmers and the Bullbats all are tied for second place with one win each. T-1 comes in the middle, winning once and biting the dust once. The Military Dept., Savannah-Clemson, Barracks 10, and the Globe Trotters follow. All these teams have won none and lost once. The Faculty trails the pack, possessing no wins and two losses.

Winthrop:

From the Johnsonian this week Cathy Roof sends us advice on how to cure a roommate of snoring. I quote: "You can cure your roommate of snoring by good advice, cooperation, kindness—and by stuffing an old sock in his mouth."

I tried that last night, but before I achieved success I lost a pair of socks and two towels.

Carolina Loses; Griffith Hurls 2nd Victory

Nig Griffith won his second game of the season as the Clemson Tigers downed Carolina's Gamecocks to break even for the 2 game series here Saturday afternoon.

Highlight of the game was the faultless playing of the Bengal infield that played the entire contest without a miscue. Ray Matthews made the only bobble of the game for the Tigers in center-field but cut down the runner going into third to compensate for his error.

Leo Fisher's big bat came to life to rap two singles in three attempts and scored two runs.

Costly errors by the Carolina club and wildness of the moundmen after Hagen left the contest in the sixth caused the Tigers to win the game with ease. Hagen and Griffith were hooked up in a pitching duel until the eighth when he was relieved by Sherer.

"Male Animal" Play Be Next Week, April 29 - 30

Production Will Be Put On At 8:00

Play Fresh Off Broadway To Be Presented In College Chapel By Little Theater

STORY IS GIVEN

By DAVE SPINER

"The Male Animal," smash Broadway hit, is almost ready for presentation.

What can a professor do to defend his home from a predatory football player? What is in that letter that everyone is so anxious to prevent him from reading to his class?

Ellen, the professor's wife, still finds Joe Ferguson, fascinating after ten years of marriage. Michael, her little sister's beau, has committed an irreparable sin which turns a peaceful home into an asylum of confusion.

Jim Spangenberg, Baptist Minister of Students, plays the role of Michael, a fiery young liberal whose ideals and adolescent determination to rid a Mid-Western university of its "Fascists" elements gets him into a mess of trouble. Jim, as young Michael, drinks his way out of it!

Tommy, the professor, is played by Clemson athlete Chuck Chalker. He portrays an inoffensive young professor whose life is upset by Michael's crusade for freedom, and whose wife, Ellen, is weaving between him and her returned lover, Joe. Joe sneaks in the back door bearing a bouquet of flowers as camouflage, and tries to whirl Ellen off to the tune of "Who."

Mrs. Ernest Blakely, who is known for her beautiful singing voice, works at Clemson's registrar's office, and is one of the youngest and first "Vet" wives on the campus. She plays the feminine lead.

Jay Shuler, accomplished McClannan poet, is a senior now at Clemson. His portrayal of Joe Ferguson, all-time, All-American football star, is hilarious. His huge 6' 4" frame is perfect for

Alumni Club Having Barbecue Tomorrow

Mr. Robert Easterling, President of the Orangeburg, Bamberg, and Calhoun Alumni Club, is giving a barbecue for the club Friday night at seven o'clock on the Edisto River near Denmark.

Those who plan to attend from Clemson are Dr. R. F. Poole, Major S. M. Martin, Dr. D. W. Daniel, Prof. J. E. Hunter, Mr. P. B. Holtzendorff, Mr. J. H. Woodward, Mr. A. B. Bryan, Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, and Dr. F. H. H. Calhoun.

the role as he lumbers about demonstrating plays. The girls of Furman will be here en masse to witness HIS work.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holt, of the English department, have leading character roles in the play. Mr. Holt, a dynamic red-head, nicknamed "Ike" in real-life . . . (ask him why sometime) . . . plays Ed Kellar, a slightly obnoxious, blustering real-estate operator and professional alumnus. Mrs. Holt, a sweet little blond, plays Patricia, the younger sister . . . a typical ingenue role. Both of the Hols hail from the University of North Carolina.

Ira S. Slobodien, well-known English instructor, plays the role of Wally Michael's rival for Patricia, and a football player. Mr. Slobodien is a former Clemson student, and has broken into his honeymoon with his beautiful wife, Marianne, to act in this role. Meanwhile, Marianne, refusing to get the part of the forsaken bride, has taken over the duties as assistant to the director, Mrs. MacCurdy Burnet, and is rehearsal manager for the play.

Dean Frederick Damon is enacted by Crayton M. Crawford. His mimicry as the head of the Department of Humanities of a large university is a side-splitting surprise to those of his friends who never before even dreamed of him as an actor. He is a native of Greenville, and dreads the family ribbing he expects after his performance.

Gaynelle Williams, leading Clemson belle—(she has at least three escorts to each rehearsal session)—will have her beauty framed under the makeup of a Negro maid. Miss Williams, high school student and daughter of Professor Bratton Williams, has had several leading roles with the Little Theater although this is her first effort in a character part.

Mrs. Helen Allen plays the Dean's wife, Blanch. She is the

Dairying Majors Make Southern Extension Trip

By JIMMY CUSHMAN

Members of the senior group which made an extended tour of the more outstanding dairy plants and dairy farms in the southeast, recently made separate reports on their trip at the Dairy Club meeting which was held Tuesday night, April 13.

The members of this party were all seniors majoring in dairying. They were L. D. Carter, R. M. Hinkel, J. E. Pettigrew, W. A. Smithwick, S. M. Frazer, C. J. Senn, C. M. Shuman, J. F. Causey, and M. B. Smith. This group was accompanied by Professor B. E. Goodale, Professor of the Dairy Department.

These men left Clemson by car on Thursday, April 8, at 2 o'clock. From Clemson, they went to Greenville to visit the new Pet Milk Plant and the Leake Brothers Milk plant. A Clemson graduate, Herbert Johnson, is the quality control man at the Pet Plant. Frank Leake, another Clemson graduate, is the Manager of the Leake Brothers Plant. After touring these plants at Greenville, the group drove to Asheville, where they spent the night.

Friday morning, the group drove out to the Biltmore Dairy Farms on the Biltmore Estate. The herd manager took them over the milking barns and parlors of the farm and also directed them through a tour of the 700 Jersey cows owned by the farm. After seeing the milking parlors with the guest balconies for viewing the cattle while they are being milked, the men were treated to a steak and chicken dinner at the Biltmore Plaza in Asheville.

That afternoon, the group visited the Southern Dairies plant and the Skyline Cooperative Dairy. Max Youmans, production manager of the Skyline Cooperative Dairy Plant, made the statement that Clemson sophomores and juniors are wanted to accept positions in this plant for temporary summer positions. Professor Goodale cited this as a good opportunity for Clemson men to get some good experience as well as to receive good payment for their work.

Friday afternoon, the group moved on to Greenville, Tennessee, where they spent the night. They visited the Pet Milk Condenser plant there and observed the milk and flat tin going in one side of the plant and the finished Pet Milk product coming out the other side. They visited the Greenville Milk Plant on Saturday and then drove on to Knoxville, Tennessee.

At the University of Tennessee, the President of the dairy club there met with the men and also acted as host to the dairy luncheon which they attended.

After visiting the herd and dairy barn at the University, they concluded their visit at Knoxville with a visit to the Southern Dairies there.

On Saturday night, the group moved on from Knoxville to Cleveland, Tennessee. They were greeted there by their host, Mr. John M. Dunlap, a Clemson graduate, and by the president of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Dunlap is the owner of the Cleveland Ice Cream and Milk Plant and also is a prominent civic leader, according to Professor Goodale.

Sunday morning, the men were on their way to Rossville, Georgia. Here they visited two famous breeding and show herds at the Jersey Dairy Farms of Happy Valley Farm and Greenfield.

From Rossville, the men went to Trion, Georgia. Here they saw the Riegeldale Guernsey Farm, which is managed by a Clemson graduate, Mr. Ralph Coarsey. Mr. Coarsey was the former county agent in Chester County. He is, according to Professor Goodale, considered among the outstanding Guernsey breeders of the United States. Mr. Coarsey showed the men pictures of checks amounting to 30,000 dollars which he had received for two Guernsey bulls. They concluded their stay there with a trip through the farm viewing the farm herd and barns.

After completing their tour of Riegeldale Farms, the group moved on to Atlanta, where they spent the night. On Monday morning, they visited the million dollar, Foremost Dairies plant, the Southern Dairies plant, and the Dairy Cooperative plant.

They drove on from Atlanta to Athens, Georgia, where they had the only regrettable experience of the whole trip, and that was seeing the Georgia baseball team beat the Clemson game. They visited the University of Georgia's farms and buildings, and then headed for the home stretch.

They arrived here about seven Monday night after having completed a thorough tour through the outstanding dairy farms and dairy plants of four states: South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia.

This trip is made annually by the seniors in dairying, and these men have stated that it is an experience to look forward to as both interesting and educational.

Co-Op To Report

A meeting of all students at Clemson will be held on Thursday, April 29, in the College Chapel at 5 p. m., at which the annual treasury report of the Student Co-Op will be given by a member of the Board of Directors.

At this time also, five new directors will be elected by the students. This is a STUDENT ELECTION; therefore, it is imperative that as many as possible be there. Of these five men to be elected one will come from the faculty, one from the alumni, and three from the student body. The students may be from the cadet or veteran group.

Students are reminded that the Student Co-Op is owned by the students of Clemson College; therefore, it would be to their advantage to support this Co-Op when possible. All the usual necessary books and supplies are available.

Mayfair Grill Proven To Be Popular Place To Eat

"What'll you have, Sir?" It isn't an easy question to answer at the Mayfair Grill, Anderson's ritzy answer to the where-to-eat question. A menu as varied as it is delectable is offered for every diner's perusal, and rare indeed is the guest who is able to decide immediately which of the temptingly-prepared dishes he wishes to store away until time for his next meal.

The Mayfair offers seafood plates calculated to please the palate of Old Man Shark himself. Its steaks sizzle delightfully, recalling the days of chuck wagons on the western plains. The sandwiches—ah, the sandwiches are capable of suiting the most particular epicurean's fancy. Tasty entrees; crisp, tender salads; sweet fruity desserts—and, of course, promptly-served main courses—all blend together to make an "eating out" meal a memorable occasion.

Add good food and helpful, efficient waitresses, and what have you? Service, isn't it? The kind which comes with a double helping of smile. And service is the middle name of restaurateur Konduros, owner and operator of the Mayfair.

Mr. Konduros was born in Sparta, Greece. He came to America in 1907, and journeyed south to Anderson from New York City in 1908. After a year's return trip to New York, he settled in Anderson for keeps. He was connected with a succession of eating-places there until, in 1926, he and a group of colleagues established the Sanitary restaurant on the site of the present-day Mayfair. In 1937 he bought his partners out and changed the name of his grill to Mayfair.

One of the most interesting features of the Mayfair's popularity is its collegiate atmosphere. Mr. Konduros' attractive daughter, Katherine, acts the role of hostess for boys and girls from several schools in the Anderson area.

Veteran Chef Tom Castris supervises preparation of Mayfair food, carefully blending Old World methods with New World techniques. To his discriminating work is due a large measure of the excellent reputation the Mayfair has maintained through the years.

Engineering Grad Retires With Honor

Mr. T. K. Elliot Jr., class of '05, was feted at a banquet in Newark, New Jersey, on the evening of April 9 in honor of his retirement from the Bell Telephone Company.

At the time of his retirement, Mr. Elliot was Engineer of Outside Plants of the Bell Telephone Company. He now makes his home at 540 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey.

pretty addition to our library staff in real life. Mrs. Allen has had much experience in the production end of Little Theater work all over the country, and she is an expert on costuming the plays of Shakespeare. This is her first role as a modern woman.

Mrs. Irving Abrams, known to all as "Marjie," the best cook on the campus, is a petite, charming brunette. This is her first attempt at acting . . . (her husband says "on stage acting, anyway!") . . . and she portrays the brassy, lightly silly wife of Ed Kellar, head of the Board of Trustees.

"Nutsy" Miller, student band leader, is played by Jeff McMan, who is also carrying the heavy load of production manager.

A newspaper reporter is played by Dave Spiner, of Tampa, Florida. He does a walk-on as an old-time Chicago legman. When not appearing on-stage, Mr. Spiner is in charge of the sound effects.

Professor Burnet, who is technical advisor for the production, wants it known that the production staff is one of the best he has ever worked with. Special laurels, he says, go to Irving Abrams, William E. Lee, Jr., George "Hank" Wendell, Philip Gilroy, and Mrs. A. T. Hind.
